Call Waiting

Call Waiting

With call waiting enabled on your Vega, if a new call arrives whilst you are on a call you will hear a call waiting beep in your earpiece.

If you ignore the beep, the new calling party will continue to hear ringback tone.

If you want to talk to the new caller:

- press recall

you will now be able to talk to the new calling party (the original party will be put on hold and will hear silence).

To talk to the original party

- press recall (special dial tone is heard – Vega is in command mode)
- press recall

you will now be able to talk to the original party.

To talk to the new calling party again

- press recall (special dial tone is heard – Vega is in command mode)
- press recall

you will now be able to talk to the new calling party.

Repeated presses of recall switch you between 'Vega command mode' and talking to the other parties.

Command mode

When special dial tone is heard after pressing recall the Vega is in command mode. At this stage it is possible to:

- disconnect the last party you talked to
- connect the other two parties together
- introduce a new party (if only 1 other party is left in the call)

To disconnect the last party you talked to, when in command mode:

- press * 5 2

To connect the other two parties together (and drop yourself out of the call), when in command mode:

- press * 9 9

To introduce a new party to the call, only yourself and one other party may be in this call. To introduce the new party, when in command mode:

- dial the telephone number of new party, and optionally follow with the # key
